

A preview of the 2019 AIT Annual Meeting

The Association of Inhalation Toxicologists will hold their annual meeting October 14-16, 2019 in Brighton, UK. The meeting will feature presentations, posters and a technology exhibit.

Experts and participants are expected from a variety of backgrounds including respiratory medicine, CROs, the pharmaceutical, agrochemical, environmental and chemicals industries, regulatory authorities, academia, manufacturing and technology companies.

Presentation topics

The agenda will feature environmental pollution and its relationship to childhood asthma, volcanic eruptions, inhaled pesticides, and environmental and occupational health aspects related to nanomaterials, gene therapy, inhaled biologics; inhaled case studies, in vitro research, e-cigarettes, foamy macrophage response and NC3R's (CRACK-IT) outcome.

Posters and exhibitors

Attendees are invited to submit poster abstracts on all scientific topics related to inhalation toxicology. Please contact aitoxicology@gmail.com for more information.

The meeting will also include up to ten exhibitors, each of which will give two-minute presentations.

When?

October 14-16, 2019

Where?

Brighton, UK

For more information and registration:

<https://www.aitoxicology.org/copy-of-2017-conference-announcemen>